

2014 Fifth Cybercrime and Trustworthy Computing Conference

(CTC 2014)

Auckland, New Zealand
24 – 25 November 2014

IEEE Catalog Number: CFP1465K-POD
ISBN: 978-1-4799-8826-6

2014 Fifth Cybercrime and Trustworthy Computing Conference

CTC 2014

Table of Contents

Welcome Message from the CTC 2014 Steering Committee	vi
Program Committee	vii
Reviewers	ix

Fifth Cybercrime and Trustworthy Computing Conference

A Comparative Study of Likelihood Ratio Based Forensic Text Comparison Procedures: Multivariate Kernel Density with Lexical Features vs. Word N-grams vs. Character N-grams	1
Shunichi Ishihara
Be Careful Who You Trust: Issues with the Public Key Infrastructure	12
Paul Black and Robert Layton
Malicious Advertising and Music Piracy: A New Zealand Case Study	22
Paul A. Watters, Maya Watters, and Jacqueline Ziegler
Privacy Threats from Social Networking Service Aggregators	30
Omar Jaafor, Babiga Birregah, Charles Perez, and Marc Lemercier
Authorship Analysis of the Zeus Botnet Source Code	38
Robert Layton and Ahmad Azab
Mining Malware to Detect Variants	44
Ahmad Azab, Robert Layton, Mamoun Alazab, and Jonathan Oliver
Analysis of Malware Behaviour: Using Data Mining Clustering Techniques to Support Forensics Investigation	54
Edem Inang Edem, Chafika Benzaïd, Ameer Al-Nemrat, and Paul Watters
Author Index	64