ASHRAE/NIST Refrigerants Conference

Moving towards Sustainability

October 29–30, 2012, National Institute of Standards & Technology, Gaithersburg, MD

International concerns about the impact of refrigerants on climate change drive the need to look at new cooling and refrigeration options that are sustainable. This conference addresses low-GWP alternatives, new generations of unsaturated fluorochemicals, and natural refrigerants through papers, presentations, and panel discussions. This is the fourth jointly sponsored conference between ASHRAE and NIST.
